Update: R134A – Temporary Allowance Increase

Date published: November 4, 2022

On April 21, 2022, MPI announced a temporary allowance for R134A refrigerant and that continued monitoring of market costs would take place.

After assessing current market conditions, it has been determined that the temporary allowance increase is still required. MPI will review again in six months and communicate any future changes.

Please email partners@mpi.mb.ca if you have any questions about this notice.
